EXHIBITION OF DRAWINGS BY DENZIL FORRESTER

4-28 APRIL 1986

Denzil Forrester, who is originally from the West Indian island of Grenada, now lives and works in London. The contrast between grey, urbanised London and the colour of Grenada inspires him in his painting. Other influences include the London blues clubs that play Reggae music and the carnivals of Grenada with their crowds, noises and movements.

In his works are crowded images with spaces between them that at times echo the music of blues clubs and at other times are reminiscent of blue sky as seen throguh a green, leafy forest. Tranquil moments occurring within a complex and cluttered environment is a theme that runs throughout his paintings.
