A lot of publicity is given to the negative aspects of being black—lack of education, bad housing, unemployment, etc., but not enough emphasis put on the achievements of Afro/Caribbean and Asian people who have enriched our cultural heritage.

To counteract this attitude the GLC have put together a London-wide Black Arts programme reflecting all aspects of the black experience, historical, cultural, political and contemporary through a variety of art forms.

The Black Experience runs through February and lasts until the end of March. At a variety of venues there will be exhibitions, seminars, music, dance, drama, photography, the plastic arts and film.
